MR. BARRETT'S HEALTH.

HE HAS NOT FELT SO WELL IN YEARS.

THE ACTOR'S RETURN ON THE LAHN YESTERDAY

-PLANS FOR NEXT SEASON.

The reports that have found their way into print from time to time for several months about the serious state of Lawrence Barrett's health were all discredited yesterday, when the Labn brought Mr. Barrett home The ship arrived early in the morning. Barrett was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and later Mr. Barrett took breakfast with Edwin Booth at the Players' Club. When seen there a few hours afterward he had had little chance for rest after his voybut said that he felt well and strong, the latter fact being especially worthy of note, because the baths that he had been taking were likely to have some eservaime effect.

Mr. Barrett has been abroad about five months. told something of his travels for rest and pleasure in Prance, Italy and Germany, including some places he had never before visited, and said that he had spent the last month of his time at Krentznach, taking the baths, which were opened a little sooner than asual for his behefit, so that he might come home thus carly. He believes that the difficulty with his neck, which has caused him so much trouble and compelled him to close his season in December, is now entirely cured, and he speaks hopefully and confidently of the work of next season, arrangements for which will begin soon.

As has already been announced, he will play with Mr. Booth, and they will begin in November. They will come to New-York for a run of three months shout the middle of the winter. Before beginning work with Mr. Booth, Mr. Karrett will act with the Before beginning company for a few weeks in the West. The plays company will be the old ones, as far as has yet been decided. "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Othello," "Julius Caesar," etc. "King John" has been talked of to some extent, but Mr. Barrett could not say yesterday that it would certainly be played. Neither could be say whether, should it be played, be ould act the King and Mr. Booth Faulconbridge, or whether he would be Faultonbridge and Mr. Booth Mr. Barrett also has a play on the subject of "Thomas a Becket," as was said some time ago in these columns, but thinks it is not likely to be produced next season. Miss Minna Gale will have leading parts, such as she has already played with the company, including Constance, if "King John" is given, Mr. Barrett saw Mme. Bernhardt play "Jeanne d'Aro" in Paris and spoke highly of the performance, not guly as a fine piece of acting on the part of Mme. Bernhardt herself, but as a spectacle. He was also particularly impressed by the flusic incidental to the piece. He was especially pleased with the fourth and fifth acts, which he thought were extremely strong framatically, and powerfully acted. He also met fifth acts. With regard to this times be told him that she expected to play the piece in this country next season. With regard to this it may be proper to say that Mme. Bernhardt is now and will be for some time under the management of Abbey, Schoeifel and Grag, and they have not yet decided positively whether they will bring her to this country or not. She will soon play an engagement in London, and the coming production of her new play, "Cleopatra," will have some bearing on the final decision. She will at any rate make a tour, in Europe, and if she comes to this country she will appear at the Broadway Theatre in November. d'Arc" in Paris and spoke highly of the performance, country she will appear at the Broadway Recates in November.

Mr. Barrett expressed a good deal of surprise at the reports that had been circulated to the effect that his condition was practically hopeless and that he would never be able to act again, and said that he had never heard anything of these stories till his friends told him of them yesterday morning. He will give an address at the anniversary of the Actors' Fund at Palmer's Theatre on Tuesday afternoon and in a few days will go to Cohasset, Mass., where he will spend the summer.

THEATRICAL INCIDENTS.

Ada Cavendish, being left in widowhood and by no wealthy, will resume her profession of actress and will shortly return to the stage. Miss Cavendish is one of the best performers of the day-original, spirited and interesting-and doubtless she will maintain her rank upon the scene. She is to act in a play called "The Bride of Love," by Robert Buchanan.

Cora Tanner will appear at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on August 25 in a new play called "One Error." written for her by Mr. Edward E. Kidder. The Fifth Avenue Theatre, refurnished and redecorated, will be opened then, for the new season, under the managelaid in France-at Nice and at Paris. The character to be represented by Cora Tanner is that of a young English heiress named Judith Orne. A good company has been organised by Colonel W. E. Sinn to cooperate with Miss Tanner. The new play will be carefully mounted. Mr. Kidder's dramas are generally "A Poor Relation," written by him and ed by Sol. Smith Russell, has gained much practical favor this season. Miss Lotta intends to duce a comedy by Mr. Kidder during her next tour of the United States.

many interesting peculiarities, and one therefore whose presence is always welcome, may be seen at Jersey City this week, where he is representing Davy Crockett. Favorable judgment upon this piece was long since recorded in this journal. It is a pure, simple, whole-some, pleasing and ennobling piece, and Mr. Mayo's of the backwoodsman is an effort in the domain of imagination and romance, and not simply a copy of prosy reality. Mr. Mayo's company includes J. H. Taylor, Edwin F. Mayo. David Rivers, E. Sylvester, W. F. Canfield, Mabel Seymour, Marie Buress and

W. F. Canfield, Mabel Seymour, Marie Euress and Mary LeVere.
Attention is again directed to the special performance which is to be given at the Erooklyn Theatre to commemorate the closing of that house. This performance will occur on June 2 and will be given under the auspices of "The Brooklyn Eagle," as owner of the property. Mr. Boncleault's comedy of "London Assurance" is to be acted and the author will be present. The fiftieth anniversary of the production of "London Assurance" will strive on March 4, 1891.) The cast will include Rose Coghlan as Lady Gay Spanker, Charles Walcott as Sir Harcourt Courtly, A. Lipman as Charles Courtly, Verner Clarges as Max Harkaway, Luke Martin as Meddle, John T. Sullivan as Dazzle, Helen Bancroit as Grace and Etta Baker as Pert. The Mayor of Brooklyn will make a preliminary address.

MR. THOMAS'S POPULAR CONCERTS.

The summer-night concerts which Mr. Thomas began at the Lenox Lyceum last night give promise to be extremely popular affairs. Artistically the first concert was on the plane of the Sunday night entertainments which were interrupted by the departure of Mr. Thomas and his band for the scene of their many triumphs in Cinctinati; and the audience in numbers, character and enthusiasm indicated that the welcome which greeted the return of Mr. Thomas to the field in which he has accomplished most enduring work for good has not died out in the interim. The large concert-room was not crowded as it was on the last half-dozen nighs of the Sanday season, but the assemblage numbered over 1,200, and the music was heard with many demonstrations of interest and delight. The two Wagnerian numbers, the Prelude to "Die Meister singer" and the transcription of the song "Dreams were demanded a second time. In the latter number Mr. Bendix, who has rejoined Mr. Thomas's forces after a year's absence a Berlin, presented himself again to a public that has learned to admire him greatly and received a hearty welcome. The programme was a delightfully entertaining one, varied in style, composed of a high class of music yet essentially popular.

REFORMED CHURCH GENERAL SYNOD.

GERMAN CHURCHES.

VOTING FOR THE UNION OF THE DUTCH AND

Lebanon, Penn., May 30 (Special).-To-day's session of the General Synod of the Reformed Church was brief. The resignation of the Rev. A. D. Gring formerly missionary to Japan, was presented and, after a lively discussion, was referred to a committee with power to examine documents and hear testimony Mr. Gring's action was prompted through a disagreement with the General Board of Missions. The Rev. William J. R. Taylor, of New-York, presented the claims of the American Sunday Union. The report of the joint commission on the union of the Reformed Dutch Church and the Refermed German Churches was then taken up. Dr. T. G. Appel, of Lancaster and Dr. De Baum, of New-York, spoke in favor of the union, and it was agreed to by a rising vote. The result was received with so much joy that Dr G. W. Willard, of Tiffin, Ohio, suggested the singin of the "Doxology," which was done. This evening' session was taken up by discussion of the subject of youthful mission bands, in which the Rev. A DECISION IN FAVOR OF THE CITY.

Grover Cleveland, who was appointed referee by the Supreme Court last December to hear and determine the questions of value in the eight cases of Langdon against the Mayor, which were brought by the plaintiffs to recover compensation for the destruction of their wharf rights, which were taken away when the city built the new builtheads and piers on the North River, in pursuance of the act of 1871, announced his decision yesterday in favor of the city

The plaintiffs were interested in about 425 feet of waterfront and claimed that a compensation should be allowed them of at least $1,000 a foot. The amount claimed with interest from 1877 came to about Mr. Cleveland, however, in his decision adopted the position of the defendant's counsel, that ndopted the position of the defendant's counsel, that the value of the property was only $100 a foot, which will result in a Judgment against the city amounting to less than $75,000 instead of $500,000.

It is thought that this decision will not only dispose of the Langdon cases, but will also assist in the limit determination of several other suits affecting the city's waterfront.

The plaintiffs were represented by William J. Marrin, Richard S. Emmet and Thomas Ogden. Thomas P. Wickes and Henry B. Twombley represented the city.

THE SCHOOLS AND THE FRENCH TESTIMONIAL. The presidents of several colleges having exhibited great interest in the proposed testimonial to France in recognition of her timely assistance to the Revolutionary Army, the Testimonial Committee has made the following suggestion to educators throughout the country: "It has occurred to us that if the school children of the land could be infined to en-operate by forwarding to us at for each school room, it would stimulate the interest of those children in the history of this country in the most interesting period of its history."

AN ORPHANS HOME PORRED THE TREASURER. JOHN C. FILE, STEAKS OVER

Philadelphia, May 30,-It has leaked out that John C. File, treasurer of the Lutheran Orphans' Home since 1872, is a defaulter to an amount reaching over was the policy of the board of directors of the Home not to touch the endowments which year after year were made, but to defray the working expenses of the institution from the interest and the onations. The accounts have been found to be inaccurate in every particular. The defalcations are confined to the endowment fund alone. These en-dowments amounted to 843,400. Of this sum the institution, through Mr. File's operations, has lost about $05,000. Mr. File has often been ordered to report to the directors, but under one pretence or from another, he failed to do so, until the last meeting. when he broke down and admitted having misappro priated the funds. He was allowed to depart after having handed over a statement which showed that the only securities he was possessed of were some city ds, rathroad, canal and other bonds, amounting allogather to some $5,000. Of these some are utterly valueless, and it is believed that the only assets remaining cannot realize more than $6,000. The directors will decide at their meeting on Monday next what action to puspe. what action to pursue.

DECISION IN A COMPLICATED CASE.

Chicago, May 30.-Judge Gary, of the Appellate Court, has rendered a decision reversing and remand ng a decision of the Circuit Court, in the involved Jeffery Printing Company, in 1-so. The main conten-tion was that Jeffery organized the company on an inflated stock valuation, and that the stock, though all taken by Jeffery and his wife and other relatives, was manipulated to the detriment of complainants and passed severe strictures upon Mr. Jeffery's methods in making his wife a creditor for goods furnished. The Appellate Court, in passing pany upon an inflated valuation of the assets, however, treat, injured nobody, and had no tendency to injure sreat, injured nobody, and had no tendency to be any anybody when it was done. It was a family matter among theselves, and if anybody was decived, it mus have been Mrs. Jeffery herself, who is tensibly paid $50,000 for one third of the stock. If, by subsequent transactions, and body has been induced to to take any of her stock and has reason to complain, that about be the suit and has reason to complain, that about be the suit.
